Priya Gandherva is a Manager at the IPCA Centre for Waste Management and Research (ICWMR). She holds a diploma in Elementary Education from Maharaja Surajmal Institute, a B.Sc. in Physical Science (Chemistry) from University of Delhi and a Master's in Corporate Social Responsibility (MACSR) from IGNOU, reflecting her commitment to continuous learning.

Ms. Gandherva has experience across administrative and content-driven roles. She began her professional journey as an Admin Executive, where she efficiently handled invoicing, client coordination, record management, and communication with key clients. Her ability to serve as a reliable point of contact ensured streamlined internal operations and effective stakeholder engagement.

Seeking to broaden her skill set, she transitioned into the role of Social Media Coordinator and Content Developer at A.S.S Science Foundation Consultancy. She managed Social media platforms by planning and developing engaging content tailored to diverse audiences, and by analyzing engagement metrics to improve outreach. Her responsibilities extended to maintaining accurate documentation, communication, and organizing content archives to support seamless information flow within the organization.

She recently completed a certification in Power BI to enhance her data visualization and analytical capabilities.

At ICWMR, she brings a versatile, detail-oriented, and adaptive approach, contributing to both administrative management and communication efforts aligned with sustainable initiatives.
